Municipalities across B.C. will head to the polls on Oct. 15 to elect new councils and Tofino and Ucluelet have both announced the candidates that will be on their towns' respective ballots following Friday's 4 p.m. nomination deadline.

Ucluelet is set to elect a new mayor as Mayco Noel has decided not to run for re-election and the three candidates who have put their names forward to replace him as mayor are: Rachelle Cole, Bruce Faith and Marilyn McEwen.

Along with the mayor's seat, Ucluelet has four councillor seats, which is the exact number of candidates who have put their names forward to fill them: Shawn Anderson, Jennifer Hoar, Ian Kennington and Mark Maftai.

The Ucluelet Chamber of Commerce is hosting an All Candidates Forum on Sept. 22 from 6:30-9 p.m. at Black Rock Oceanfront Resort and locals can submit questions for the candidates at info@uclueletchamber.com.

In Tofino, mayor Dan Law is running for re-election unopposed as no other candidates put their names forward.

Tofino has six councillor seats and the seven candidates who will be on the ballot to fill them are: Al Anderson, John Enns, Duncan McMaster, Ali Sawyer, Sarah Sloman, Tom Stere and Kat Thomas.
